

21st Feb, 1826

69

My dear Sir

I was some time since favoured with your letter of 27th Jan^y and desired my son, to whom I was just then writing, to communicate my acknowledgements of it, and to promise an early answer. I had intended to write sooner than I now do: ^{Delay} but I beg you to accept my excuses

I thank you for the account of disbursements on my son's account. You will consider yourself authorized to draw in July next for £80, as you propose, instead of the usual half yearly 60 £

I did send 8 £ by Mr Laperon to my son, for the purchase of German Classics, which he was desirous of acquiring and in that wish I was quite desirous to encourage him. I had no guess, that Mr Laperon was to make a long halt at Paris, or do more than take that city on his way to Bonn. Else I should have requested you to advance the amount to my son. May I request you to verify the facts from Mr Laperon & rectify the matter