I ought before now to have thanked you my Good Friend for the very acceptable present of the two first Nos of Your Indian Library They were given to me by Campbell in the Spring in the midst of the bustle of a very laborious Session of Parliament & I was desirous of reading them in the quiet of the Country before I thanked you for so obliging a mark of your remembrance.

I have now read them with great pleasure

Your Remarks together with Mr Bopp's Letter
