

man of intellect & taste. I have written to Professor Lapen to beg he will direct my son's Sautonic studies and I doubt not he will derive great benefit from even a brief sojourn in a place that abounds with so many eminent individuals.

If my instructions to the booksellers Parbury and Allen have been attended to you are in possession of every work published by the Education Committee in Sanscrit up to the date of my leaving India. I have not received any supply since my arrival in England & have therefore so
