

Bristol, June 30. 1842.

(57)

73

Dear Sir,

Although I have not enjoyed the privilege of frequenting your society, yet being not altogether unknown to you, I venture to hope that I may be allowed the honour of introducing to you a guestess and my countrywoman and sister Miss Carpenter, a young lady of the greatest worth & highest intellectual endowments, a daughter of the late Dr Carpenter, who was celebrated as a

53