

60

40

iii -

37 Howland Street
Fitzroy St
Sept 22. -

Understanding that you was at present in London I cannot refrain from naming to you a work which I have been for some years laboriously engaged in preparing for the press and which I hope to complete in about two months. -

The subject is important as it contains the whole system of the doctrines and History of Buddhism from its own records. - The originals in Pallee and Cingales were the fruits of Sir Alexander Johnston's zeal and unwearied effort for the acquisition of material, to throw light on the past ages of Indian Literature.

183