Sir,

I have laid before the Court of Directors of the East India Company, your Letter, addressed to Dr. Wilkins, presenting to them a Copy of your Edition and Translation into Latin, of the Sanscrit Poem, called Bhagavad-Gita; and I am instructed to express the Court's Thanks for this mark of your attention, and to assure you that they have pleasure in assigning to the Book a place in the Company's Library.

I am likewise directed to add that the Court have subscribed for 40 Copies of your Work.

I am

Sir,

Your most obedient
humble servant

Blaber,
Agent
