

Handwritten text on the right edge of the page, likely bleed-through from the reverse side. The text is faint and difficult to decipher but appears to be organized in a list or index format.