The Publishers of Mr. Moore's Irish Melodies, having long wished to produce an Illustrated Edition of that work which should be deemed not unworthy of the fame universally accorded to the admired author, consider they are fortunate in having obtained the aid of Mr. Maclise's congenial fancy to accomplish their object.

The work will consist of the collection known as Mr. Moore's „Irish Melodies,” illustrated with one hundred and sixty designs by Mr. Maclise, engraved in facsimile of the original drawings (a few of them being etched by himself), and every page surrounded with an ornamental border. The text, with the exception of the notes and prefatory matter, will be engraved on steelplates, by Mr. Becker's patent process.

The work will be published in October, in One Volume, Imperial Octavo, with One Hundred and Sixty Illustrations, in Boards, Price Three Guineas.

Copies may be had handsomely bound in morocco, by the best binders, Price 4 £ 1 s. 6 d. ordinar.

The Illuminated Calendar for 1846. This volume will contain 12 pages in fac-simile from the Calendar of the rich missal of the Duke of Anjou, styled King of Sicily and Jerusalem; also 24 pages of Diary, each illuminated with an elaborate Border taken from the same MS. and an Illuminated Title. The binding will be designed from the framework of one of the miniature pictures of the same MS. 1 vol. imperial 8. 2 £ 2 s. ord.

The „Hours of the Duke of Anjou“ is preserved in the Bibliotheque Royale of Paris.

*** The elaborate Gothic traceries of this M. S. form one of the finest monuments of the art of illuminating; it was executed towards the close of the fourteenth century, more than a century earlier than the „Hours of Anne of Brittany,” which formed the subject of the Calendar for 1844, and in style and execution it exhibits a totally distinct character of art from that work.
