

It's just a souvenir...

"World's Columbian Exposition" ... it says. 1893.
Doesn't say anything about that being your grandmother's honeymoon. No sign of the cookies she always used to keep there, in the old house. No telling what it has seen through the years, watching from the shelf in your house.

But now that you're going to move it clear across the world, wouldn't you feel better if the movers seemed to understand those things?
