

Fragment of an ancient manuscript page, likely papyrus or parchment, showing faint traces of text in a cursive script. The fragment is heavily damaged and stained, with a dark brown binding visible on the left edge.

Fragment of an ancient manuscript page, likely papyrus or parchment, showing faint traces of text in a cursive script. A prominent red ink mark, possibly a signature or a decorative element, is visible on the right side. The fragment is heavily damaged and stained, with a dark brown binding visible on the right edge.