

Handwritten title or text at the top of the page, possibly a name or title, which is mostly illegible due to fading.

Handwritten musical notation on five-line staves. The notation includes notes, stems, and bar lines, though it is significantly faded and difficult to read. There are approximately six staves of music visible in the upper half of the page.