

Lace-making is the sole manual employment of the women of Ceylon. We mention it in this place because the specimens of thread pillow lace from Point de Galle and Candy bear a striking resemblance to the Maltese. (Fig. 37.) A lace of similar character has also been successfully made in the missionary schools at Madras.

Fig. 37.

Pillow lace. Ceylon.