

INDEX.

- ALENÇON, establishment of Points de France by Colbert, 128, 158; its previous lace industry, 160; opposition of the old lace-workers, 161; called "vilain," 164; its manufacture described, 166; only lace in which horsehair is introduced, 168; patronised by Napoleon I., 169; imperial orders for the marriage, ib.; a modern trousseau of point d'Alençon, 171; made at Bayeux, 172.
- Antwerp made lace for the Spanish market, 105; its "pot" lace, 106; and pattern books, 108; lace of Turnhout, ib.
- Aprons, Mechlin-trimmed, of the Pope, 54; lace-trimmed, of the French court, 132; of sail-cloth, trimmed with point, sent by the Maréchale de Luxembourg, 151; gold lace-trimmed, of Queen Elizabeth, 274; of the Duchess of Queensberry, 310.
- Argentan point, its manufacture confounded with Alençon, 173; distinctive characters, 174; "grande bride" ground, ib.; jealousy of fabrics, ib.; marriage of the dauphin, 167, 176; often occurs in the inventories of the reign of Louis XV., 178; bride picotée, ib.; sheets trimmed with point d'Argentan, 146.
- Argentella, 168.
- Arras, mode of fabrication identical with Lille, 206; its special excellence, 207; gold lace, ib.
- Aurillac, its mention in Révolte des Passemens, 31; sends gold and silver lace to Spain, 215; extensively worn at the court of Louis XIV., 129, 216.
- Auvergne, ancient manufacture at Le Puy, 211; ruinous edict, 212; St. François Régis obtains its repeal, ib.; variety of its products, 213; manufacture of Crâponne, 214; museum of lace, ib.; Aurillac, see; Murat, 212.
- BAILLEUL (Nord), its "fausses Valenciennes," 208; the cleanest and whitest made, ib.
- Barry, Madame du, her point d'Angleterre, 148; point à l'aiguille, 168; point d'Argentan, 178.
- Bavaro, Venetian collar so called, 46.
- Bayeux, its lace manufacture, 194; piece goods, 195; point de raccroc, ib.; "blondes mates" for Spanish market, ib.; lace identical with Chantilly, ib.; prosperity of the black lace trade, ib.
- Bedford, lace-making introduced by Flemish refugees, 336; or by Queen Katherine of Aragon, ib.; its lace schools, 338; plaited lace, 349.
- Binche (Hainault), its flowers, 95; "applied" at Paris, 110; subject of an early edict, ib.; its lace highly esteemed, ib.
- Bisette, lace so called, 28, 222.
- Black lace hood (bauta) of Venetian ladies and of Lady M. W. Montagu, 46; of Grammont, see; black lace on marriage of Louis XIV., 127; of court of Charles II., ib.; masks of black blonde, 148; of Bayeux, see; Bucks, see; Chantilly, see.
- Blandford, famous for its lace, 352.
- Blonde, Caen, see; Catalonia, 83; Chantilly, see.
- Bobbins, number on a lace pillow, 27; at Ypres, 108; in Italy made of lead, 59; sheep's trotters used, 260; boxwood, ib.
- Bobbin-net, 395; Hammond, ib.; Lee of Calverton, 396; Heathcoat invents the bobbin-net machine, 397; bobbin-net