

- fever, 398; tricot dentelle made in France, 399; Calais, 400; Lyons silk net, 401; illusion, ib.; Washer of Brussels invents "Brussels net," ib.
- Bohemian lace, see Germany.
- Bone lace, pillow lace, why so called, 251; term occurs frequently in great wardrobe accounts, 60.
- Boots, lace-trimmed, of court of Louis XIV. and of Cinq-Mars, 121; trimmed with Genoa point, 124.
- Brazil, its lace manufacture, 85.
- Bretagne, no record of lace manufacture, 223; lace mentioned in legend of Bluebeard, and in ballads, ib.; the lace-trimmed wedding dress, ib.
- Bride, term explained, 26.
- Bruges, its "point duchesse," 110.
- Brussels lace, 92; called point d'Angleterre, 93; the best made in Brussels, 94; fineness of thread, ib.; its costliness, 95; ground, bride, and réseau, ib.; réseau made by needle and on pillow, 96; flowers, needle and plat, or pillow, ib.; grounded Brussels, 97; its complicated manufacture, ib.; division of labour, ib.; point gazé, 99; cost of a Brussels flounce, 101; Brussels of Queen Anne, 311.
- Brussels net, see Bobbin-net.
- Buckingham, petition of Great Marlow, 338; manufacture mentioned by Fuller, Cowper, Lysons, and Defoe, 339; Newport Pagnel celebrated in last century, 340; trolly lace, 342; black lace, 350.
- Burano lace, 47.
- Burato, term explained, 39.
- Burgoyne or burgoin, lace head-dress of court of Louis XIV., 176; and cap of Normandy peasant, 186.
- Burgundy lace, 220.
- CAEN celebrated for its white blonde, 193.
- Calendar of State Papers in Public Record Office, passim.
- Campane, lace so called, 28.
- Canons, silver lace, of James I., 50; point de France of Louis XIV., 126; their costliness, 127.
- Cap, fashion for royalty to die in a lace-trimmed cap, 304; that of James II. preserved at Dunkirk, ib.
- Ceylon, its lace resembles Maltese, 79.
- Champagne, point de Sedan much esteemed, 208; Sedan collars of Charles I., ib.
- Chansons à toile, 5.
- Chantilly, manufacture established by Duchess of Longueville, 183; old pattern book with orders for the court, ib.; its fall, 185.
- Christening suits, lace-trimmed, 273.
- Colbert, protects Châtelain the Huguenot, 80; establishes the lace manufacture of point de France, 125, 128, 130; his lace cravat, 163; his point du Havre, 188.
- Colberteen, lace so called, 303.
- Courtrai, its Valenciennes lace, 110.
- Cravat, origin of the name, 31; of Charles II., 301; supply of point lace for a gentleman's cravat, 312.
- Cutwork, Chap. II.; of Queen Anne of Bohemia, 11; St. Cuthbert's grave-clothes, ib.; adorns shirts, handkerchiefs, sheets, and pillow-cases, ib.; cap and apron of widow of John of Newbury, 13; pattern books, 14; how made, 16; fisherman's pall at Dieppe, 20; toile d'honneur at St. Lo, ib.; cutwork of Madame Gabrielle, 116; Hölesom of Sweden, 246; cutwork of Denmark, 243; of Queen Elizabeth, 269; bearing cloth, 272; ruffs, 277; gorget of Countess of Pembroke, 287.
- DARNED NETTING, see Lacies.
- Denmark, manufacture introduced by Queen Elizabeth, sister of Charles V., 238; purchases of Christian IV. ib.; his lace-trimmed shirts, 239; sold by lace postmen, ib.; character of the lace, 240.
- Dentelle, term when first used, 23.
- Devonshire, 354; Honiton, see; tombs of Sir J. and Lady Pole, 359; early manufacture, effigies of Lady Doddridge and Bishop Stafford, ib.; trolly lace, see; Greek lace made, 369; Maltese at Woodbury, ib.
- Doll dressed as model of fashions as early as the fourteenth century, 140; Grande and Petite Pandore of the Hôtel Rambouillet, ib.; dolls sent to Vienna, Italy, and England, ib.; forbidden by Pitt, 141; Henry IV. sends doll to Marie de Medicis, ib.; Venetian custom at fair of St. Mark, ib.
- Dorsetshire, Blandford bone lace, see; Sherborne, 354; Lyme Regis, ib.
- Dresden lace mentioned by Anderson and Mrs. Calderwood, 230; Anti-Gallican