

- Flanders, West, its manufactories of Valenciennes at Ypres, see; Courtrai, see; called "fausses Valenciennes," 109; Bruges, see.
- Florence early made point lace, 52; in French inventories, ib.; lace made at Sienna, ib.; elegy on a raised point collar by Firenzuola, 53; Henry VIII. grants leave to two Florentine merchants to import gold and silver passements into England, ib.
- Fontange, laced headdress so named, its origin, 134; in England called comode, 305; Madame de Sévigné, 328.
- France, wearing of lace under the Valois, 114; the fraise or ruff of Henry III. and his mignons, 115; Reine Margot's spoon, ib.; sumptuary edicts, 116; inventory of Madame Gabrielle, 117; colerette of Mary de Medicis, 118; extravagance in lace on accession of Louis XIII., ib.; lace-trimmed boots of Cinq-Mars, 120; engravings of Abraham Bosse, 121; king's effigy in Genoa point, 123; laces of the Fronde, 124; courtiers of the regency, ib.; point lace cuffs of Anne of Austria, ib.; correspondence on subject of lace between Mazarin and Colbert, 125; laced-trimmed "canons" of Louis XIV., 126; useless edicts, ib.; Colbert develops the lace industry in France, 128; point de France adopted by the court, 131; point cuffs and ruffles given to Siamese ambassadors, 132; fête at Marly, and presents of lace, 133; Madame de Maintenon establishes a lace manufacture, ib.; ladies make point lace, ib.; the fontanges head-dress, 134; origin of the Steinkirk cravat, 136; lace ruffles called "engageantes," ib.; the "équipage de bain" in point de France, 137; Louis XV., age of ruffles and jabots, 142; point "garnitures de lit," 145; Cardinal Fleury's observation, 146; expense of lace in trousseaux, ib.; Marie-Antoinette discards point lace, 150; toilette of Mademoiselle Duthé, ib.; lace of the Rohan family, and of Monseigneur d'Auvergne, 152; French Revolution fatal to lace, 153; revives under Napoleon I., 154; "reception" of Madame Récamier, 155; Duchesse d'Abrantès describes the lace of her trousseau, 156; bobbin-net supersedes lace for a time, 157.
- GARTERS bound with gold lace, 120; of Queen Elizabeth, 266.
- Gas used for clearing machine-made lace, 398.
- Genoa, 56; gold of Jeane in early statutes, ib.; Genoa made pillow lace, ib.; Genoa lace in general use in seventeenth century, 57; Queen Christina's neckerchief of Genoa point, ib.; extent of manufacture along the Riviera, 59; the lace-workers of Sta. Margherita, ib.; patterns found in the church, 60; present state of the lace manufacture, 61; lace of Albissola, 62; parchment lace patterns used as binding of law books, ib.; aloe fibre lace, 63; Genoa macramè, or fringed towels, 64; fringed table-cloth in painting of Paul Veronese, ib.; purchases by Mazarin, 124; boot tops trimmed with Genoa point, ib.
- Germany—Saxony, see; Hamburg receives Protestant refugees, 232; Hamburg point, ib.; Lord Nelson buys Hamburg lace, ib.; Frederic William receives the emigrants at Berlin, ib.; called "mangeurs d'haricots," ib.; Hanover lace, ib.; Leipzig, Anspach, and Elberfeld make gold and silver lace, ib.; Hungarian point made at Halle, 233; Leipzig students, ib.; Sibmacher's model book published at Nuremberg, ib.; its museum, 234; devices of the passementiers, ib.; collection of lace at Bamberg, 235; lace of the Bohemian Erzgebirge, ib.; Austria, ib.
- Ghent, its lace manufactures, 110; the Béguinage, ib.; report of Sir J. Sinclair, ib.
- Gibbons, Grinling, his carved lace collars, 329.
- Gloves, lace-trimmed, of Anne Basset, 256; of Brussels lace at maiden assize, 301.
- Goderonnée, term explained, 14, 115.
- Gold and silver lace made at Arras, see; Aurillac, see; Genoa, 56; Holland, see; Lyons, 222; rézeuille serviettes of Margaret of Austria, 19; Milan, see; Paris, 182; Spain, 80; Sweden, 244; Turkey, see; Venice, see; Zurich, 235.
- Grammont, its black lace, 111.
- Grillé, French term explained, 26, 97.
- Gueuse, lace so called, 28.
- Guipure, original meaning of the term, 25; guiper, ib.