

CHAPTER V.

CORTÉS REVISITS MEXICO—RETIRES TO HIS ESTATES—HIS VOYAGES OF DISCOVERY—
FINAL RETURN TO CASTILE—COLD RECEPTION—DEATH OF CORTÉS—HIS CHARACTER. Page

Cortés embarks for Mexico—Stops at Hispaniola—Proceedings of the Audience—Cortés Lands at Villa Rica—Reception in Mexico—Retires to his Estates—His Improvement of them—His Voyages of Discovery—He Embarks for California—Disastrous Expedition—Arrival of a Viceroy—Policy of the Crown—Maritime Enterprises of Cortés—His Disgust with Mendoza—His Final Return to Castile—He joins the Expedition to Algiers—His cold Reception by Charles V.—Cortés' last Letter to the Emperor—Taken ill at Seville—His Will—Scruples of Conscience as to Slavery —Views entertained on this Topic—He moves to Castilleja—Death of Cortés—His Funeral Obsequies—Fate of his Remains—Posterity of Cortés—His Character—His Knight-errantry—His military Genius—Power over his Soldiers—Character as a Conqueror—His Enlightened Views—His Private Life—His Bigotry—His Manners and Habits 445

APPENDIX.

PART I.

ORIGIN OF THE MEXICAN CIVILISATION—ANALOGIES WITH THE OLD WORLD.

Preliminary Notice—Speculations on the New World—Manner of its Population—Plato's Atlantis—Modern Theory—Communication with the Old World—Origin of American Civilisation—Plan of the Essay—Analogies suggested by the Mexicans to the Old World—Their Traditions of the Deluge—Resemble the Hebrew Accounts—Temple of Cholula—Analogy to the Tower of Babel—The Mexican Eve—The God Quetzalcoatl—Natural Errors of the Missionaries—The Cross in Anahuac—Eucharist and Baptism—Chroniclers strive for Coincidences—Argument drawn from these—Resemblance of Social Usages—Analogies from Science—Chronological System—Hieroglyphics and Symbols—Adjustment of Time—Affinities of Language—Difficulties of Comparison—Traditions of Migration—Tests of their Truth—Physical Analogies—Architectural Remains—Destructive Spirit of the Spaniards—Ruins in Chiapa and Yucatan—Works of Art—Tools for Building —Little Resemblance to Egyptian Art—Sculpture—Hieroglyphics—Probable Age of these Monuments—Their Probable Architects—Difficulties in Forming a Conclusion—Ignorance of Iron and of Milk—Unsatisfactory Explanations—General Conclusions 461

PART II.

ORIGINAL DOCUMENTS.

Astec Mother's Advice to her Daughter—Extracts from the Fifth Letter of Cortés—
Account of his Funeral Obsequies 474