

Handwritten musical score on aged paper. The score consists of two staves per system, with lyrics written below the notes. The lyrics are in Latin and include: "non confundar in aeternum in aeternum, in aeternum. In te speravi non confundat non confundar in aeternum, non confundat non confundar in aeternum in aeternum. Domine speravi non confundar in aeternum." The word "Adagio" is written above the final staff. The music is written in a cursive hand with various note values and rests.

non confundar in aeternum in aeternum, in aeternum
num. In te spera vi non confundat non confundar in aeternum, non confundat non confundar in aeternum in aeternum num in te Domine spera vi non Adagio:
confundar in aeternum.