

---

OF ANALYSIS OF
MINERAL SUBSTANCES
IN GENERAL.

IN the examination of minerals we find sometimes earthy substances which contain different salts, blended or mixed, and partly in the state of such small parts, that their proportion to each other, cannot be determined by sorting and collecting them all in the mechanical way, or by picking, and these must therefore be ascertained by more accurate and