A TRAIN ROBBER CAPTURED.

Kansas (Missouri), November 26.
A masked robber today robbed the passengers of a train Eastward-bound from Alton, forcing them at the revolver's point to deliver up their money and valuables worth in all 2,000 dollars. The conductor of the train, however, succeeded in overpowering and handcuffing the robber. He was recognised as the man who robbed the same train a fortnight ago.

THE MAYOR OF ST. FRANCISCO'S ARREST.

The New York correspondent of The Times cables, with reference to the arrest of Mr. Eugene Schmitz: "When Schmitz went on board the Hamburg-America Company's mail steamer 'Patriela' in New York harbour, he was informed by detectives that he would not be formally arrested until he reached California unless he was willing to dispense with the formality of extradition. The Grand Jury has found a true bill of extortion against him. He is accused of having demanded from the restaurant keepers in San Francisco from 1,000 to 1,500 dollars a head, under threats that their licences would not be renewed. A few years ago Schmitz was playing in an orchestra for a wage of 24 dollars a week. Other high officials in the city are also sprung from the lower classes. Schmitz possesses today a fortune of about three millions of dollars. One of the accusations against the Municipality is that they maintain a great den of vice, frequented by hundreds of women; and that they have suppressed

THE BURNING OF THE "ALGECIRAS".

Paris, November 26.
News has reached the Ministry of Marine from Toulon that the four men announced as missing after the fire in the torpedo school ship "Algeciras" have turned up safe and sound. Six men of the "Algeciras" crews were slightly injured, while of the rescue party eight received slight abrasions. Five practise torpedos exploded in the "Algeciras" last evening but no damage was done to the shipping in the vicinity. The hull of the "Algeciras" caught fire early this morning.

Toulon, November 26.

It has now been ascertained that by the fire on board the "Algeciras" three men of the crew, prevented from escaping by the smoke, lost their lives. They were a clerk, a boatman and a workman.

pearing under the name of Adday in the Theatre d'Allemagne.

AN ANIMAL TRAINER MAULED.

Berlin, November 26.

This evening during a performance with nine tigers in the Circus Schumann, the animals' trainer, Henricksen, while endeavouring to make a tigress jump over his arm by beating her with a whip, fell. The tigress sprang at him and clawed him on the breast and legs. Henricksen, streaming with blood, managed to fire blank cartridges at her and eventually with his whip drove all the tigers back into their cage. After being bandaged in a hospital he was able to reappear in the circus. No panic took place among the public.

COUNT ANDRASSY ON HUNGARIAN DOMESTIC POLICY.

Buda Pesth, November 26.

During the discussion in the House of Deputies of the estimates for the Ministry of the Interior, Count Julius Andrássy, Minister of the Interior, said that he must vigorously deny the incessant and unjust charges of persecution of nationalities and of forcible Magyarisation of Servians, Roumanians, Germans and Slovaks. This was a policy followed neither in the past nor at the present. Such a policy he regarded as quite mistaken and objectionable. The public Administration never made any difference between citizens of the State from the point of view of race or nationality. "I attach great importance to the fact," continued the Minister, "that the officials of the Administration are proficient in the language of the people in their official district. If we treat the various races according to the principles of justice and equality, on the other hand the Government must act with the utmost severity towards agitators. We cannot regard nationalities as independent Parties, because their aims are directed against the unity and existence of the State. I do not assert that the efforts of many an agitator gravitate abroad, for I have no proofs; but their assertions in printed statements and at demonstrations make for the disruption of the country and the upheaval of the State. The agitators announce that Hungary must be turned into an Eastern Switzerland. That is a dangerous Utopia which can never be realised on Hungarian soil, which can never establish peace between the various races. Such tendencies arouse the mistrust of society in Hungary, they generalise excesses and Chauvinism; our relations, too, with Servia and Roumania, the natural friends and allies of Hungary, can easily be disturbed. I remember my father, who was Minister of the Exterior, championing the independence of Servia and Roumania before the Cabinets of Europe. At the Berlin Conference it was he who represented the idea of a Servian Monarchy. Your attacks" said the Minister turning to the Deputies of the nationalities, "endanger our friendly relations with the two countries in question. My 'nationality policy' I can sum up in the words: Love and justice for all races, implacable hostility to the agitators."

The speaker was frequently interrupted by the vociferous applause of the whole House and by noisy dissent from the Deputies of the nationalities.

NEWS FROM RUSSIA.

THE REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENT.

Theodosia, November 26.

An attempt was made on the life of General Davydov this afternoon in the street with a bomb. The General escaped uninjured. The assailant who was arrested, was carrying the bomb in a vegetable basket. The bomb failed to explode. As he was attempting to escape his pursuers he fired several shots; the bomb was made out of a tin box.

Later.

The man gives out that he is an Austrian subject 22 years of age. He attempted the outrage in obedience to the orders of the "flying section" of the Southern division of the Social revolutionaries. His bearing is provocative. A carter who refused to follow the fugitive has been arrested and with the other man was handed over to the court martial. Two other men were arrested on suspicion.

Kertsch, November 26.

In the chief synagogue here a cask has been found containing printers' type, revolvers, cartridges and a report of the doings of the revolutionaries.

Sebastopol, November 26.

The sentence on the men accused of being concerned in the military revolt was promulgated today. Of them, the apothecary's assistant Konorovitch was condemned to be hanged, and two soldiers to be shot. Three soldiers were sentenced to lifelong penal servitude and many others to shorter terms, to transference to the punishment battalion, or to imprisonment. Of the 270 accused 38 were acquitted.

The official report on the robbery of the mail train at Sharopan states that the guards, led by a policeman, opened fire on the robbers. One guard was killed, two guards being mortally and others slightly wounded, two passengers also received slight injuries. Fragments of a bomb and a bomb placed under a bridge were found.

St. Petersburg, November 26.

The man Staffot, condemned by the court martial to be hanged for having 5 loaded bombs in his possession, was executed yesterday.

The Polish socialist party announce that in the great mail robbery at Rogov 1,400,000 roubles were stolen. The Government report that only a small sum was involved is therefore incorrect. The party is using wireless telegraphy for obtaining its information.

THE AGRARIAN COMMISSION.

St. Petersburg, November 26.

The activity of the local agrarian commission has had, as is abundantly evidenced, excellent results. The peasants show confidence by coming in ever increasing numbers to make enquiries and to request an increase in their holdings. Offers to sell plots of ground are numerous. The advantages of the farm system become more and more apparent. A number of land-owners have expressed themselves ready to grant parcels of land free of rent for the establishment of model-farms. The persons sent by the Ministerial counsel to the local agricultural commissions have discussed the question of forcible expropriation of land with the peasants, and it appears that the peasants do not consider such a step feasible. In the Province of Poltava where there are no crown lands, individual owners are offering much of their land for sale.

SERVIAN JOURNALISTS ANGRY.

Buda Pesth, November 26.

A meeting took place here yesterday of the Servian Journalists' Union to protest against the expulsion of the Servian journalists Kostasiza and Nostitsch from Serajevo. The meeting was attended by over 1,000 persons, mostly members of the High School. After passing a resolution aimed at the Bosnian Government the demonstrators marched through the streets accompanied by Police Commissioners and gendarmes; a strong police guard was posted before the Austro-Hungarian Embassy and consulate, but there was no occasion for their interference.

ANTI-CHRISTIAN RIOT IN CHINA.

New York, November 26.

From Canton is announced a fresh outbreak against the Missions. In Lien-chau in the N. W. of Wang-tung, where on October 28th of last year the American missionaries were killed, the Chinese have begun to rob the churches. The American consuls have asked the Viceroy for protection.

NOTES FROM ALL QUARTERS.

Seeking an interview with a certain Minister, a lady signed the usual form with her initials, and sent it to his secretary. This official, says a provincial paper, took her to be a suffragist, and decided that the Minister was too busy to see anybody. He despatched a message to that effect to the lady, but she grew insistent, and it at last seemed necessary to take her card to the Minister. That potent gentleman immediately gave orders for the lady's admission. The suspected suffragist was the Minister's sister.

A Somerset House official, interviewed as to a Registrar's power to refuse to register what he may consider an objectionable or absurd Christian name, told the representative of a morning paper that the Registrar has such power, although it is not embodied in hard and fast regulations. "I can recall a case," said the official, "of a child whom the father wished to be named 'One Too Many.' This, in justice to the child, was refused."

A bookseller in Vienna has written to a number of well-known men, asking them to name "ten good books." He received a number of answers, from which the following may be selected:—Professor Freund selects, amongst other less well-known works, Kipling's "Jungle Book," Macaulay's "Essays," and Mark Twain's "Sketches." Count Lauckorowski gives, after certain classical works, which, he says, are "hors concours," Burekhardt's "Culture of the Renaissance in Italy," Lagarde's "German Writings," Stendhal's "Romances and Novels," Merimée's "Nouvelles," Taine's "Origins de la France Contemporaine," Emerson's "Essays," Ruskin's "Complete Works." The Count's selections are interesting, as showing rather a different field to that explored by even the most ardent English reader, who possibly has never even heard of some of the works mentioned or even of the authors.

Whether English aeronauts admit or do not admit that M. Santos-Dumont has struck the line which is to lead to success, he has in Colonel Capper a supporter of his theory as to the value of the airship in war. Colonel Capper's discovery that the channel of a river, indistinguishable from the deck of a steamer, is clearly discernible to the aeronaut, is important, but it only bears out what M. Santos-Dumont has already said. "One unique advantage of the airship," he says, "is its ability to perceive bodies moving beneath the surface of the water. Any submarine, stealthily pursuing its way beneath the waves, will be beautifully visible to the aeronaut, while from a warship's deck it would be quite invisible. This is a well-observed fact, and is based on certain optical laws." The airship, he holds, is to be the master of the submarine. At this rate the airship should hold possibilities for the surveyors of the sea. There are those who maintain that we really might discover the sea-serpent if we could but hang above and look down into the waves. When it is stated that airships will be more common five years hence than motor-cars are today, we all know that such a statement is nonsense. It took more than a generation after the first steamer had crossed the Atlantic to make men believe in such methods of transport. And much has to be done before airships can be deemed satisfactory. Nothing which M. Santos-Dumont has yet achieved even approximates to the results which he prophesied some time back—a prophecy which five years ago was to be immediately realised. Present types of flying-machines are as crude examples of possibilities as Puffing Billy and the Rocket were crude examples of the locomotive engine, or the Savannah of the steamship. We shall never get a machine as perfect as the creations of nature. It requires twenty square feet of the latest invention to lift a pound. An 11st. man develops within his modest frame every day enough energy to raise a ton to the top of a British mountain. He expends daily enough power merely in keeping himself warm to raise a ton 280 ft. into the air. But then man is the perfect machine, and it has taken millions of years to bring him to his present stage of excellence.

LOCAL.

Opera Notes. Puccini's much admired opera "La Bohème", which is always performed to crowded houses, is in the bill for Friday evening. In the absence of Herr Burrian, an excellent Vienna tenor, Herr Fritz Schrödter, will sing the part of Rudolf and will, it is hoped, repeat the great success he scored in the rôle in Dresden some 18 months ago.

At the Charity Concert in aid of the "Hauspflege Verein", arranged for this evening at the Vereinshaus, will be performed works by the following Dresden composers: Joh. Kötzschke, Joh. Reichert, Kurt Striegler, Nic. von Struve and Otto Urbach. Those taking part in the concert include the opera singers Fräulein Lotte Kreisler and Herr Wilhelm Lehnert of Altenburg; Herren Joh. Striegler and W. Reiner (violin), G. Naumann (viola), A. Zenker (violinello). The programme will comprise songs, organ solos, Ballade in F-sharp-major for piano by Kurt Striegler, Capriccio for violin and piano by Urbach. The composers will for the most part perform their own works.

We are informed that the artistic floral decorations on the front of the house Prager Strasse 5, which were jointly arranged by the three firms J. Olivier (Hoflieferant), Georg Schnauffer, and PLOT. Elsa of Brabant is accused by Count Telramund of having murdered her young brother Godfrey. King Henry decides the matter must be left to the arbitration of a duel. Elsa prays that a knight she has seen in a dream, may come to her help, and Lohengrin appears in a boat drawn by a swan. He offers to be Elsa's champion on condition that she will marry him, but never attempt to find out his name or origin. She accepts and Telramund is defeated. He and his wife Ortrud plan vengeance; the latter on plea of repentance, sows mistrust in Elsa's heart and then publicly upbraids her on the church steps for marrying a nameless man. The marriage takes place, but on the very first evening her curiosity overcomes her and she puts the fatal question.

Telramund enters to assassinate Lohengrin, but the latter kills him. In front of the assembled host Lohengrin announces that he is the son of Parsifal, and that he had been sent to Elsa's help by the Holy Grail. He takes leave of Elsa. The swan appears, but in answer to Lohengrin's prayer, dives beneath the water and in its stead rises the lost Godfrey, whom Ortrud had by witchcraft turned into a swan. The boat, now drawn by a white dove, glides away with Lohengrin and Elsa sinks senseless to the ground. Composer: Richard Wagner, born 1813, died 1883. LATEST TELEGRAMS.

London, November 27. The Tribune's New York correspondent cables that the shareholders of the Standard Oil Company are planning the construction of railways in Bolivia, which will open up extensive rubber districts. The outlay is estimated at seven million pounds sterling.

The Times correspondent in Tokio reports that the Japanese have decided to bridge the Yalu river at Yongampho. The bridge will be 3,239 feet long, and cost two million yen; it will be completed at the same time as the railway from Widschu to Mukden.—It is officially stated that the enquiry into the cause of the sinking of the battle-ship
 "Mikasa" on the 12th of September 1905 entirely exonerates the officers and crew of the ship from blame, and proves convincingly that the explosion was caused by ignition arising out of the decomposition of chemicals.

Paris, November 27. Inventories will be taken today in twelve churches in Nantes. As serious disturbances are feared, the garrison has been reinforced.

Warsaw, November 27. A central organisation of the Social Democrat revolutionary party has been discovered here, and the members of it are in custody. A party of 299 political prisoners

 Martial assembled for the trial of men concerned

Buenos Ayres, November 27. The Leprosy Conference assembled here has expressed the view that all cases of leprosy should be reported, and that every case should be properly treated; that, if necessary, compulsory measures should be taken to enforce those obligations.

Manilla, November 27. Reuter reports that, of 24 prisoners who were inoculated, by way of experiment, with cholera poison, 10 have died. The doctors who instituted the experiment say that the cholera poison was infected with bubonic plague matter. The Governor General has acquitted the doctors concerned from guilt and announced that he will take care that the families of the deceased prisoners are protected from want.

Copenhagen, November 27. The former Custodian of the Rosenborg Museum, Steffensen, has
