NEWS FROM ENGLAND.

THE JEWEL ROBBERY AT DUBLIN.

The Commission recently appointed for investigating the circumstances of the disappearance of the Crown jewels from the office of Sir Arthur Vicars, who was responsible for their safe keeping in Dublin Castle, met at Dublin on Thursday morning. Sir Arthur's counsel refused to participate in the investigation or to make any statements to the Commission, on the plea that they did not possess the necessary qualifications to examine witnesses. On the other hand, he stated that Sir Arthur Vicars was keenly desirous of an authoritative legal enquiry, in order to throw light upon the mysterious occurrence.

THE ATLANTIC RATE WAR.

According to a telegram from Liverpool, the Cunard Company, in answer to the reduction of fares on the part of the White Star Line, have made a further reduction of fifteen shillings for the steerage passage on the Transatlantic route.

NEWS FROM AMERICA.

THE JAPANESE QUESTION.

According to press reports from Washington, Japan has declared herself willing to issue only a limited number of passes to Japanese labourers desirous of immigrating to Hawaii.

The State Department has denied the report circulated in Europe to the effect that the American Ambassador in Tokio had demanded a written pledge from Japan that she will limit Japanese immigration to America.

A New York telegram states that the Associated Press reports from Washington as follows: The statement that serious differences exist between the United States and Japan in regard to the immigration question is contradicted by State Department officials, who assert that the negotiations are being carried on in an amicable and satisfactory manner.

NEW YORK SHY OF TITLES.

The New York correspondent of the Globe reports that the proprietors of many of the leading hotels there are becoming a little shy of visitors with "titles." It is the business, rather than the democratic, spirit which has dictated this shyness. Hitherto it has been comparatively easy for the fraudulently inclined to personate for the time being some well-known personage of high rank in order the better to achieve their purpose.

An extraordinary number of cases of this kind occurred during the year that has just concluded, and in at least three cases the hotel-proprietors were victimised to a very serious extent. On Thursday morning, accordingly, the manager of the Hotel Gotham, one of the most popular of New York's modern caravanserais, made the announcement that, in future, proof of the identity of visitors with titles will be required. Should such visitors arrive with a large amount of personal luggage or a retinue of servants the circumstance will be accepted as proof in itself, but titled guests "travelling light" will be asked, politely but firmly, to satisfy the management that they are indeed what they claim to be.

This is, of course, a bold step for a hotel manager to take, as it may involve a loss of custom, but it is said to be more than likely that the example will be followed at other establishments.
