THE ENGLISH POLITICAL SITUATION.

(From our own correspondent.)

London, February 5.

The current number of the Gazette, the organ of the Conservative and Unionist Party in the Reigate division of Surrey, states:—

"We understand from a well-informed source that there are grave dissensions in the Cabinet over the finances of the country, and unless the present difficulties are overcome Mr. Lloyd George's Budget may never see the light. In fact, we learned from a private source the other day that unless Mr. Lloyd George can have his way the Chancellor of the Exchequer's early resignation is by no means unlikely. It seems to be a struggle between the Whig and Radical sections of the Cabinet. It may be said that so far as we are concerned the wish is father to the thought, but the information comes from a Radical source, and the activity now being displayed at the Radical headquarters to ascertain the state of preparedness for eventualities in all constituencies goes to prove that there is more in it than a mere idle rumour."

The prolonged sittings of the Cabinet this week, and the cancelling at the last moment of Lord Fitzmaurice's engagement to speak at Swindon on Monday evening, are thought to give some weight to the rumour.

The Press Association, on the other hand, has authority for stating that there is no foundation for the report of a serious division in the Cabinet over the question of naval expenditure.

"AN ENGLISHMAN'S HOME."

(From our own correspondent.)

London, February 5.

In view of certain statements which have appeared in the home and foreign press, it is as well to state that the censor only sanctioned the production of the new patriotic play, "An Englishman's Home," when he received the assurance that the invading force would not be distinguished by German or other real uniforms. According to both its author and its producer, this play is in no way intended or calculated to awaken animosity against Britain's Continental neighbours, but is primarily an object lesson showing the horrors of invasion and the lack of interest displayed by the average Englishman in the first principles of patriotic duty.

SERIOUS FIGHTING ON THE FRENCH CONGO.

Paris, February 6.

A report has been received from Libreville, in the French Congo, that, in the recent fight which took place on Lake Tchad between French colonial troops and the natives, the French lost 12 men killed. This loss is the more serious, as a Mohammedan religious movement is said to be in progress in Central Africa.

THE SITUATION IN PERSIA.

Tabriz, February 5.

A fight took place today at the village of Chatik, near Tabriz, between insurgents and the mounted troops of Samed Khan. The insurgents were worsted, losing 100 men in killed, wounded, and prisoners.

TRANSATLANTIC MAILS.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

(From our Berlin correspondent.)

Referring to an article on the "Express Postal Service between Germany and the United States" which recently appeared in the Bulletin of the American Association of Commerce and Trade, Mr. Al. Peters, Agent of the "American" Line in Berlin, requests us to publish the following information:—
The four American Line Mail Steamers, "St. Paul," "St. Louis," "Philadelphia," and "New York," maintain a regular weekly service every Saturday from Southampton to New York, also during the winter season.

These steamers usually deliver their mail in New York seven days after sailing, i.e. on Saturdays, but in all cases American business men will find their European mail waiting for them when entering their offices on Monday morning.

All mail matter should be marked "via Southampton," and letters from Berlin are sure to reach the steamer in time if dropped in the letter-box at the Friedrich Strasse station even as late as Friday morning, 11.15, and from interior German towns (including Dresden) on Thursday evening.

A RUSSIAN STORY DENIED.

St. Petersburg, February 6.

A statement has appeared in several Russian and foreign newspapers that Count Nelidoff, the Russian Ambassador in Paris, was insulted by the Russian Military Attaché, Count Nostitz; that the latter challenged the Ambassador to fight a duel; and that Count Nelidoff has in consequence been recalled from his post. The St. Petersburg Telegraphic Agency is authorised to describe the above story as a complete invention.

THE ANTI-JAPANESE LEGISLATION.

Sacramento, February 6.

Governor Gillett has recommended the Senate to throw out the Bill passed by the Lower House excluding Japanese children from the public schools.

Salem (Oregon), February 6.

The Senate of the State of Oregon has passed a resolution calling upon Congress to extend the operation of the law excluding Chinese to Japanese and Hindus.

UNEMPLOYED RIOT IN HOLLAND.

Rotterdam, February 6.

A crowd of about 1,000 unemployed men held a meeting here today and afterwards marched in procession through the town. When the police proceeded to arrest a disorderly individual they were pelted with stones and otherwise assaulted by the crowd, and two of their number were injured. Ultimately, they were obliged to draw their swords and disperse the demonstrators.

THE RUSSIAN SENSATION.

MORE AMAZING STORIES.

Paris, February 5.

The Petite République states that Azeff, the alleged Russian Agent Provocateur, was concerned in two bogus plots against the Czar, the real object of which was to counteract the Liberal movement in Russia. Azeff's fellow-plotters were arrested, and he himself, apparently much disappointed, withdrew from the fighting organisation, declaring that there was no chance of assassinating the Czar by the ordinary means, namely revolver, knife, or bomb, and that an attempt should be made by aeroplane. Azeff is stated to have collected money ostensibly for the purpose of conducting experiments for the carrying out of this design. A telegram to the Echo de Paris from Geneva states that Azeff is believed to be in Switzerland, and that he is being tracked by four members of the Socialist-Revolutionary party. It is reported that M. Lopuchin was denounced by him.

Another message from Geneva states that the terrorist organisation is sparing no expense in endeavouring to ascertain Azeff's hiding-place and kill him. Since Azeff's escape from Paris the terrorists have established an elaborate detective service. Five "executioners" are searching the Swiss cantons for the "condemned" man. If conditions permit, he will be captured alive and taken before the terrorist tribunal; if this is impossible he will be shot immediately.

"The Borgias were angels compared with Azeff," one of the terrorist leaders said. "He has massacred at least 1,500 of us, and sent three times that number to living deaths in Siberia."

St. Petersburg, February 5.

M. Lopuchin, it is said, has been writing his memoirs for publication in English. At the time of his arrest he was preparing a summary of the work, and was also writing an essay for an English publisher. It is suggested that his recent visit to London, to which sinister importance has been attached, may in reality have been connected with this circumstance. M. Lopuchin, though in an exceedingly difficult position, has many powerful supporters in influential financial circles, and there are many who believe he will be able to extricate himself from the toils. His exceedingly intimate knowledge of the inner official world is a point in his favour, and there is reason to know that certain spheres of officialdom are very uneasy at the prospect of sensational disclosures.

St. Petersburg, February 5.

At a meeting of the Cabinet held last night, the Prime Minister, M. Stolypin, said that it was urgently necessary to have secret police agents abroad. He severely condemned provocative action on the part of Government officials, remarking that if subordinate officials were guilty of such conduct they deserved the heaviest punishment. All the Ministers concurred in that opinion.

STORM HAVOC AT WIESBADEN.

Wiesbaden, February 6.

During the storm last night, which about twelve o'clock reached the force of a hurricane, the machinery house that is being built for the Industrial Exhibition this year collapsed. No one was hurt.
