THE NEW SULTAN'S FIRST SELAMLIK.

Constantinople, May 1.

Mohammed V. attended his first Selamluk at the Hagia Sofia yesterday. The procession wended its way through streets strongly guarded by troops. Every coign of vantage had its knot of spectators, and the courtyard of the Mosque was also crowded. Both on his way to and from the Mosque Sultan Mohammed was enthusiastically greeted by the people. No untoward incident marred the proceedings. Complete tranquillity and order reigns in the capital and its environs. His Majesty yesterday received the Grand Vizier, the Presidents of the Senate and Chamber, numerous high and subordinate officials, and many of his personal friends.

The happy state of affairs in Constantinople is unfortunately not reflected in other parts of the Empire. A Salonika telegram reports that while an inventory of the military arsenal at Valona was in progress yesterday, the three officers engaged in the work discovered several serious irregularities on the part of the arsenal administration. These discoveries apparently incensed the soldiers, and upon the three officers emerging from the gate they were fired upon by an Albanian sentry. A major and a captain were both shot dead, but the third officer escaped injury. The assailant was arrested.

Consular despatches describe the situation in the vilayets of Bagdad and Bassora as very unfavourable. Sanguinary collisions between various tribes are taking place, resultant upon the mobilisation of a Redif battalion. The latest despatches, however, are more favourable. Other Consular reports make it plain that the military revolt on April 13th had been carefully planned in many parts of the country, particularly in Asia Minor. At Erzeroum the mutineers destroyed the Young Turk club, the members having to seek refuge in the French consulate. The news of the Committee's army having captured Constantinople appears to have put an end to the provincial revolt, and the affected districts are now fairly quiet again.

HORRIBLE BLACK HAND OUTRAGE.

New York, May 1.

The Black Hand society in this city has been responsible for a terrible catastrophe, involving great loss of life. One day this week the landlord of a tenement house on the East Side was ordered to pay the society one thousand dollars, on pain of having his property burnt. He refused, and last night it was discovered that the building, in which dozens of families were housed, was on fire. Immediately a terrible panic broke out. Mothers hurried their children from the windows as the flames approached, and in most cases the unfortunate infants were killed. The fire brigade was quickly on the spot, and effected a number of rescues, but eight people were killed and twenty injured, the majority being children.

THE AMERICAN TARIFF.

Washington, April 30.

Mr. Taft has intimated his intention to veto the Senate's Bill unless the tariff is drastically revised, so as to show a downward tendency.

Washington, April 30.

The Finance Committee has laid its report on the new maximum and minimum schedules of the Tariff Bill before the Senate. The maximum rates are to come into operation after the 30th of March, 1910. The President is then authorised to concede the minimum rates to any country and to appoint a Tariff Committee to collect information. The countries that do not obtain the minimum rates will continue to pay the coffee duty of five cents and the tea duty of ten cents. In order to obtain the minimum rates, a country must make to America the same concessions that it makes to other countries, must frame no regulations of any kind limiting imports from America, and neither pay export premiums nor adopt prohibitive measures with regard to exports to America.

THE LATE MR. HEINRICH CONRIED.

New York, April 30.

REJOICING IN HOLLAND.

The Hague, May 1.

Since the glad news became known yesterday morning, the capital has been in a condition of delirious joy. Last night all the public buildings and most private houses were illuminated with Chinese lanterns. Until the early hours of the morning the streets were filled with jubilant crowds, who demonstrated their delight at the happy event in ways which went far towards refuting the proverbial stolidness of the Dutch burghers; but there was not the least symptom of disorder. The universal jubilation found an echo within the staid precincts of Parliament yesterday, when the Minister of the Interior delivered an eloquent speech commemorating the birth of the long hoped for heir to the House of Orange. His words were continually interrupted by loud bursts of cheering. The President of the Chamber briefly expressed the gratification of the assembly, and prophesied that this happy issue would weld still closer the ties already existing between the Royal House and the people. Eventually the Chamber appointed a committee to draw up an address of loyal congratulation to the Sovereign, and then adjourned as a mark of its satisfaction. Reports continue to reach here from Amsterdam, Rotterdam, and every town and hamlet in the country, describing the scenes of joy which took place on receipt of the news of the birth. Thanksgiving services were held in every church throughout the land, and in many districts great festivals were hurriedly improvised in honour of the occasion. The latest official bulletin states that Queen Wilhelmina and her infant are both doing very well.

The Hague, May 1.

The names of the infant Princess have been entered at the Registry Office as Juliana, Luise, Emma, Marie, Wilhelmina.

HURRICANE IN AMERICA.

New York, April 30.

The storms of the past few days culminated yesterday in a terrific hurricane which swept over the Mississippi valley and devastated districts of Tennessee, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, and Pennsylvania. Actual details of the loss of life and damage caused are not yet to hand, as telegraphic communication is interrupted. It is however believed that the death-roll will amount to several hundreds. Illinois and Tennessee appear to have suffered most. A conservative estimate places the damage at five million dollars. At Michigan City, Indiana, the high wall of the county gaol was wrecked, and militia had to be requisitioned to prevent the prisoners from making their escape. A telegram from Nashville says that fifty people were killed in Tennessee by the hurricane, and the damage done to property is enormous.
