SPAIN'S VICTORY IN MOROCCO.

The following Reuter despatch, giving a graphic account of the occupation of the Gurugu mountains by the Spanish force, has been received from Melilla: 'At three o'clock this morning a column composed of six companies of infantry and the disciplinary brigade of the Melilla Garrison, advanced towards Mount Gurugu, under the command of Gen. Del Real. The force marched through Wolf's Gorge, headed by native police, and a harka of Frajana and Mezquita Moors, who have taken refuge in Melilla. The ascent of the heights was carried out with great precision, with as much prudence as skill, and in the greatest order, notwithstanding the difficulties offered by the steep and broken ground.

'The troops, who were full of dash, appeared to grow more enthusiastic with every step. They showed much disappointment at meeting with no other obstacle than that of the ground, full of natural obstacles of all sorts. Indeed, there was never a trace of the enemy in this locality, where for so long the Moors swarmed under the leadership of their famous Chief Chaldy, and that no less famous Marabout El Mizian. It was not until they had breasted the topmost ridge that our troops heard three shots, and three only, doubtless fired by some laggards among the Moors, who disappeared at once, and whose harmless shots only evoked the reply of lusty cries of 'Viva España.' A few moments later, at eight o'clock, the three companies marching in the centre occupied the top of Mount Gurugu, where they were shortly joined by the remainder of the force.

'It would be useless to try to depict the delirious enthusiasm which carried away officers and men, as they occupied the summit of the mountain, today so peaceful, and only recently semi-impregnable, on the slopes of which there fell in the sanguinary assaults of July 23 and 27, so many officers and men, victims even to a greater extent of their unthinking heroism and courage, than to their duty. As the folds of the flag of Spain fluttered out on the fresh morning breeze, over the newly-won position, tremendous cries of 'Viva España' and 'Viva El Rey' resounded, echoed from afar by the booming of the guns in the batteries of the various camps, and of the warships lying off Melilla. After a brief rest the work of fortifying the position was started. At half-past twelve a convoy left Melilla with provisions to revictual the force on Mount Gurugu.'

An official report from Melilla gives the following casualty list of the forces under General Orozco during the recognisance from Zuluán to Suk el Djennis; General Diaz Vicario, two captains, one lieutenant, and 14 men killed, and about 180 men wounded.

NEWS OF THE WORLD.

A London telegram states that the Friday evening papers published an announcement by the Vice-Chancellor of Cambridge University to the effect that Baron Rudolf Schröder, of Messrs. I. Henry Schröder & Company, has offered the University a sum of £20,000 for the foundation of a German Professorate.

The United States Government revenue for the month of September amounted to $52,348,000; and the expenditure to $52,969,000. The National Debt increased during the month by $2,058,000. The gold reserve in the Treasury amounts to $1,293,543,000.

The Brussels correspondent of the Echo de Paris has interviewed the Duke of Orleans, who has just returned from Arctic regions.

The Duke said he wished to express no opinion with regard to the Cook-Pearry controversy. He admired both, and considered their exploits possible. He added, "one must applaud their undertaking, as one does a sport, but I do not think that the conquest of the Pole can be called anything but a sporting event, and I consider that there is greater value in the expedition which the Norwegian explorer Amundsen is about to undertake in those regions, for the purpose of magnetic observations and soundings, which alone can be of assistance to science.'

Commander and Mrs. Peary arrived at New York on Friday from Portland, Maine, and were enthusiastically greeted by large crowds. Commander Peary remained on board the steamer Roosevelt, which later took part in the naval parade in the Hudson. He stood on the bridge of the steamer, and all the other vessels in the river blew their sirens and rung their bells in honour of the explorer.

A Washington cablegram to hand yesterday contained the significant news that the National Geographical Society has decided, in connection with the lecture which Dr. Cook is to deliver at Washington today (Sunday), not to officially recognise him as the discoverer of the North Pole.

A local train from Ghent to Antwerp on Friday collided at a level crossing with a wagon, killing four persons and badly injuring one.

The International Airship Union at Zurich has decided that the aviation competition for the Gordon Bennett prize in 1910 shall take place over a course of 100 kilometres, with landings in between. The course will be enclosed and have a minimum length of five kilometres.

M. Paulhan at Cologne on Friday afternoon made four flights over the Merheimer racecourse, but only one flight was in any way a success. On landing, one of the apparatus was damaged. M. Blériot covered 40 rounds of the course in 64 minutes, occasionally reaching a height of 25 metres.

A Juvisy telegram states that, owing to the heavy rain, the flying ground was converted into a morass. As a result the commencement of the two weeks' aviation contests, including long distance-flights from Paris, has been postponed until October 7.

A Salonika telegram of yesterday states that the Vali, Ibrahim Bey, a son of the Sheik-ul-Islam, has given orders to the police to prohibit the appearance on the streets of unveiled Turkish women. The Vali further exhorts all true Mohammedans to strictly observe the sacred duties of the Ramazan festival and recommends them to adhere faithfully to the tenets of the Koran.

Apropos of the Hudson-Fulton celebrations, a New York despatch to the Express reads:—The police of the Williamsburg district of New York will long remember the visit of William Mayhew, an able seaman of H.M.S. Duke of Edinburgh. Mayhew left his ship for a holiday ashore, and after wandering about the streets all day lost his bearings, so at midnight he climbed to the top of a lamp-post with his pipe in his mouth and anchored for the night. While he was giving loud expression to his opinions of the geography of New York, he was discovered by the policeman on the beat, who invited him to descend. Mayhew replied that the view was better where he was, and when the policeman tried to climb the lamp-post he was compelled to make a hasty descent. Two other policemen arrived in reply to a whistle for assistance. It was a penitent Mayhew who appeared before the magistrate in the morning. He was profuse in his apologies for disturbing the harmony of the visit. The magistrate gave him some good advice and twenty-five cents for his fare, and fifteen sore but admiring policemen watched him depart to his ship. A veil is drawn over what happened when he reached the cruiser.

According to a London despatch, it is feared that the schooner Maria Luise, which left Hamburg on August 24, bound for Berwick, and is now four weeks overdue, has foundered in the North Sea with all hands.

A Reuter telegram from Melbourne states that Sir R. W. Best, Commonwealth Minister for Trade and Customs, has issued a memorandum, giving the results of the experience of the preferential tariff for British imports since its introduction in June, 1908.

The Minister disclaims any wish to suggest what fiscal policy is suitable to the Motherland, but "with grave misgiving," he finds that trade with Great Britain has slowly but surely decreased. The percentage of British imports in 1905 was 55 per cent.; in 1906, 53.66 per cent.; in 1907, 52.92 per cent.; and in 1908, 51.54 per cent. This decline, says the memorandum, must arrest the attention of the most complacent advocates of laissez faire. The total imports of merchandise in 1908 reached a value of £48,600,000, of which the United Kingdom contributed £25,000,000. The value of imports affected by preferential treatment was £26,000,000, of which the United Kingdom contributed £16,577,000. The preferential rebate on this amounted to £828,000. As a result of only one year's experience, therefore, it was found that the decrease in British imports affected by preference had been arrested.

The rapid opening up of new South Wales lands in consequence of Mr. Wade's closer settlement policy, the assurance of a bumper harvest, and the general rural prosperity attending the favourable seasons, are causing a great demand for agricultural labour. Under the Australian Government assisted scheme a steady stream of skilled agriculturists is arriving at Sydney from Great Britain, but the demand far exceeds the supply.

Another remarkable Colorado bank outrage is reported in despatches from Glenwood Springs. Three masked men entered the bank at a quiet hour, held up the cashier, and proceeded to collect all the available cash, amounting to just over 10,000 dolrs. They then succeeded in getting safely away from the town before the police could be put on their track.

It has been the custom of the French naval authorities, for several years, to send a certain number of young officers abroad to study foreign languages. This custom has had at least one romantic sequel, for the engagement is now announced of Ensign Rouvier, son of Rear-Admiral Rouvier and nephew of Surgeon-General Rouvier, who was sent to Japan, to Mdle. Ito, daughter of the victor of the Yalu. The wedding is to take place shortly in Tokio, and a vessel from the French Far Eastern squadron will be present to mark the occasion.

Mr. Rudolf Ganz, the popular pianist, and Mrs. Ganz have just taken up residence in their new home, Luther Strasse 26, near Motz Strasse.

Mrs. F. de Wolf Smythe and her son Hastings Smythe have left for a short visit to Dresden, returning to Berlin tomorrow. They will again be at Mrs. Bennett's, Bellevue Strasse 12A.

Miss Olga Krutzky, who has been taking a special course in German literature at Berlin University, has left for her home in Philadelphia. Miss Krutzky has been staying at Pension Nagel, Uhland Strasse 30.

Miss Swift, the sister of Dr. Walter B. Swift, arrives in Berlin this morning, accompanied by a friend. Miss Swift, who is coming for the Berlin concert season, is taking up residence at Mrs. Bennett's American Home, Bellevue Strasse 12A.

Another interesting "Colony romance" is represented by the marriage in London of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kaspar. Mr. and Mrs. Kaspar became acquainted in Berlin a year or two ago as young piano students. While Mr. Kaspar is an American, coming from Washington, where his father is well known in musical circles, his wife is an Australian girl, nee Miss Kathleen Leeper, whose father, as Warden of Trinity College, is one of the most prominent University men in Melbourne.

Mr. and Mrs. Kaspar, who are in residence at Prager Strasse 33, have abandoned their intention of leaving early in October on a three months' trip to Washington.

Mr. J. Vick O'Brien, of Pittsburg, Penn., the young American composer whose engagement to Miss Swan, also of Pittsburg, was recently announced in the Daily Record, was married to his fiancée last Tuesday, September 28, at the Oratory Church, S. Kensington, London. The wedding was very quiet, the only friends present being Dr. Charles F. Bödecker, and his brother, Dr. H. B. Bödecker, and wife, all of Berlin, who accompanied Mr. O'Brien and Miss Swan to London for the purpose of attending the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien are making a short wedding tour through England, after which they will take up residence in their apartment at Landhaus Str. 49, Berlin W.

Miss Swan will be remembered as one of the colony of American music students in Berlin, although her acquaintance with Mr. O'Brien dates from their residence in Pittsburg.

Mrs. Frances Fearn, the widow of the Hon. Walker Fearn, former U.S. Minister to Roumania, left Berlin early last week for Brussels, going thence to Paris, where she arrived on Saturday. Mrs. Fearn expects to make a lecture-tour in Wales this winter, lecturing as usual for the benefit of the blind.

Mr. George S. Atwood, who is secretary of the American Association of Commerce and Trade in Berlin, has been appointed manager for Germany of the American Exposition to be held in the exhibition hall of the Zoological Gardens, Berlin, during May, June and July, 1910. Mr. Atwood, according to the Herald, reports that space for the Exposition has been taken by Messrs. Charles A. Schieren and Company, of New York; the United Shoe Machinery Company, of Boston, and the Watson-Stillman Company, of New York. Baron von Brandenstein, the German representative, who is in the United States, is said to have secured a good list of exhibitors.

There is a possibility that Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan may consent to engage a certain amount of space for an art exhibit.

A committee has been formed in New York for a proposed display of American automobiles and automobile sundries. The members of this committee are Mr. S. A. Miles, Mr. Alfred Reeves, Mr. D. J. Post, and Mr. N. N. Downs.

It is announced that the United Shoe Machinery Company will make a comprehensive exhibit of shoe manufacture, showing all the stages of the process from green hides to ready footwear.

The names of Mr. Melville Stone, Mr. W. G. McAdoo, Mr. George W. Perkins, and J. Pierpont Morgan and Company have been added to the American advisory committee.

NEWS OF THE WORLD. (Continued.)

Sir Edward Seymour and Admiral von Köster, together with other officers of the international fleet now at New York, were entertained by Mr. Meyer, Secretary of the Navy, at a banquet on board the Presidential yacht Mayflower on Friday evening.

The Council of the Canadian Board of Trade has decided to take no action whatever in the matter of the personal representations which have been made to it by two delegates of the German-Canadian Economic Association of Berlin. These men explained that their mission to Canada was to urge the Boards of Trade and similar bodies to assist in bringing about a better trade understanding between Canada and Germany. The Association which they represented had, they said, been formed in Germany for this purpose, and they intended to tour Canada on their mission.

Some ten days ago the newspapers reported the discovery on the beach at Dinard of a child's body which appeared to have been in the sea for a long time, and from which the head and extremities were missing. Doctors, after an autopsy, declared that the body was that of a girl two years of age, and that it showed signs of brutal treatment, and had fourteen stabs in the region of the heart. Inquiry in the neighbourhood failed to find that any child was missing. The Figaro now publishes the confession of the guilty party. He is a well-known sportsman, and states that he brought to Dinard a young chimpanzee. The animal developed a tuberculous complaint and a skin disease. To put it out of its agony the sportsman shot the animal, and buried it in the sand. The body was washed out to sea, recovered, and gave rise to the gruesome story related above.

The Matin publishes the following telegram from Cerbere:—"Another bomb exploded about 7 o'clock yesterday (Wednesday) evening in the Calle del Conde del Asalto, which is one of the most populous parts of Barcelona. The façade of a house was wrecked, and three passers-by were injured, one seriously. A second bomb exploded this morning in the workmen's quarter in the Riera Alta, injuring several persons, and doing considerable damage to property. Very serious rumours are current regarding the origin of these outrages. Official inquiries are being actively pursued."

Professor and Mrs. William H. Crawford, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Lucy Crawford, and Mrs. Crawford's mother, have arrived in Dresden and are staying at the Pension Ilm.

Professor Crawford is President of the Allegheny College, U.S., and is combining pleasure with study during his Sabbatical year of leave. He is chiefly concerned with the religious and secular educational system in the German schools and, speaking to a Daily Record representative yesterday, he expressed his admiration of this system as a whole. While in Berlin he had a very enjoyable and instructive interview with Dr. Dryander, the Court Chaplain, whose personality and intellect he greatly admired. Professor Crawford is a member of the Social Service Union, and his home is at Meadville, Pa. His mother-in-law resides at Batavia, Ill. They hope to spend the coming Winter in Rome.

DRESDEN MUSIC AND ART NOTICES.

Music-lovers will rejoice to learn that Wilhelm Backhaus is returning to Dresden and will give a pianoforte recital in the Vereinshaus next Sunday, October 10, with a well-selected programme, including works of Bach, Beethoven, Schubert, Grieg, and Liszt. Tickets obtainable from Bock, Prager Str. 9.

We have much pleasure in drawing attention to the Art History Courses of Fraulein Elisabeth Schlender, of Pirnaische Strasse 32, and the Literature lectures of Fraulein I. H. Schlender, of the same address. Full particulars appear in our advertisement columns. Both these courses should and do appeal strongly to Anglo-American visitors, dealing as they do with Art History and German Literature. These two talented ladies have received many eulogies in the local press, and have been honoured by the presence of Royalty at their lectures. Fraulein Elisabeth Schlender has already commenced her art lectures, while Fraulein I. H. Schlender resumes her literature course on the 12th inst.

The Hans Thomá exhibition in Ernst Arnold's Gallery is very popular, owing to its great variety. It includes about 180 lithographs and etchings by the master, together with three beautiful sketches, two executed in 1880 and the third of more recent date.

Next Sunday, October 10, a sacred concert arranged by Herr Paul Walde, organist, will take place in the Catholic Section of the Garrison Church in Dresden-Albertstadt, with the assistance of Fraulein Kiesel and Fraulein Zimmer.

PLOT. The Rhine-maidens, who guard the gleaming Rhine-gold, see swimming about in the river and leaving Alberich the dwarf. The latter sees the gleam of the Rhine-gold, and hearing that anyone who forswears love and forges a Ring out of the gold will be all-powerful, seizes the gold and disappears. Wotan, chief of the Gods, has employed Fasolt and Fafner, the giants, to build him a castle, Valhalla, promising them, as a reward, Freia, the Goddess of youth. The giants having completed their task demand their reward, but Wotan, who had never meant to keep his word, since it was Freia who, with her golden apples, gave the Gods their eternal youth, summons the fire-God Loge to his aid, and is told of Alberich's theft. The giants agree to accept the Nibelung's hoard, but take away Freia as a hostage. The Gods immediately become old and wrinkled. Loge and Wotan descend to Nibelheim, and, by inducing Alberich to turn into a food, in order to prove to them the power of the Tarnhelm—a cap which enables the wearer to assume any shape he likes—overpower him, and rob him of his treasure, including the Tarnhelm, and the magic Ring. Alberich curses them, foretelling the approaching doom of the Gods. But Wotan and Loge, undisturbed, return to earth with the treasure and the giants bring back Freia; they plant two spears in the ground, and placing Freia between them, declare she must be entirely hidden by the treasure piled up in front of her. To do this it is necessary for both the Tarnhelm and the Ring, which Wotan only yields with great reluctance and after having been warned by Erda, the earth-mother, to be added to the pile. Freia is released, but Alberich's curse begins to work at once. Fafner kills Fasolt to obtain sole possession of the hoard. The Gods joyfully pass over a rainbow bridge to Valhalla, while in the distance are heard the wails of the Rhine-maidens, lamenting the loss of the gold committed to their charge.

PLOT. Abi-Melech, satrap of Gaza, desires the captive Israelites, till in fury, led on by Samson, they kill him and root the Philistines. The rejoicing Israelites are welcomed on their return, even by Dalila, the Philistine maid, who once before had ensnared Samson by her beauty. Angry at his having deserted her she promises the High Priest of Dagon to put Samson into her hands. Samson comes to her, and though at first obstinate, finally reveals the secret of his strength and Dalila cuts off his hair, and the Philistines easily overpower him. He is blinded and imprisoned and finally led away to a banquet of the Philistines, where Dalila mocks and derides him. Clashing the pillars of the hall, he invokes the God of Israel, who gives him strength, and he tears down the pillars, burying the Philistines with himself in the ruins of the hall.
 Composer: Saint-Saëns, born 1835.
