Important Notice!

THIS wonderful Invention (the invention, in the first instance, of a French Scientist, by which colours are produced in the picture without the aid, as in the ordinary way, of the artist's brush, after the point has left the operator's hands) has been recently improved upon and brought to perfection, after months of patient and careful experiment, by the Proprietor of the Patent for Great Britain, Ireland, and the Channel Islands. The commercial advantages of this Process cannot fail to be enormous, as colour-photographs can be now produced at very little increased cost over plain prints. The Proprietor is now open to negotiate for the Sale of Licenses throughout the provinces for the use of this process.—Applications to be addressed to the PROPRIETOR, Colour Photographic Studio, 1, Park Side, Knightsbridge, S.W., where specimens of the Process can be seen.
