Due Viole

Andante

The image shows a page of handwritten musical notation. At the top left, the tempo is marked 'Andante' and the instruments are 'Violini'. The first two staves are for the violins, with the instruction 'solto voce' written between them. Below these are two staves for 'Due Viole'. The bottom section of the page contains several more staves, including a grand staff (treble and bass clefs) and a cello/bass line. The notation is dense and characteristic of 18th or 19th-century manuscript notation. The paper shows signs of age, with some staining and discoloration.
