

Faint Latin text, possibly a preface or introductory text, written in a medieval Gothic script. It is significantly obscured by large, irregular stains and water damage, particularly a large brownish-green blotch covering the upper and middle portions of the page. Some words like "Tale..." and "obten..." are partially legible.

