

Faint, mostly illegible text in a medieval script, possibly Gothic or similar, covering the upper portion of the page.

De armis quibus teguntur Capitulum secundum

D

S

T

Main body of text in medieval script, containing several large decorated initials (D, S, T) in blue and red. The text is significantly faded and partially obscured by a large white tear at the bottom of the page.