

Handwritten text on a small, irregularly shaped piece of aged paper, possibly a note or a fragment of a document. The text is written in a cursive script and is difficult to decipher due to fading and the shape of the paper.

A larger, rectangular piece of aged paper with very faint, illegible handwritten text. The paper appears to be a full page or a large note, but the writing is too light to read.

100656