

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is faint and mostly illegible due to fading and the angle of the page.