

Handwritten text at the top of the page, possibly a title or header, appearing as bleed-through from the reverse side.

COPIA I

Main body of handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, including a large circular seal or stamp on the right side, which is also bleed-through from the reverse side.