

Handwritten text in a historical script, likely German, describing a process or apparatus. The text is arranged in several lines across the top of the page.

3 3

Handwritten text, possibly a title or section header, located below the first block of text.

Handwritten text, possibly a subtitle or further description, located below the second block of text.

