

Handwritten text at the top of the page, likely a title or header, appearing as a mirror image.

Main body of handwritten text, appearing as a mirror image of the original document's content.