

Handwritten text on the spine, likely a library call number or title, which is mostly illegible due to fading and the angle of the page.