

Sächsische Landesbibliothek in Dresden

Handwritten text in German, likely a library inventory or description of the manuscript. The text is faint and partially obscured by the paper's texture and the binding.

Samstag der Handschrift mit 75 1/2

A large table with multiple columns and rows, containing handwritten entries. The text is very faint and difficult to read, but it appears to be a detailed record of the manuscript's contents or a list of related works.
