ALL over America today a network of motor coach lines is bringing town closer to town and making travel more convenient and more pleasurable. What has given such an impetus to this new phase of transportation? As much as any other one thing, the development of pneumatic tires that will stand up under weight, speed and strain. It is gratifying to us to know, from the testimony of hundreds of coach operators, that Kelly Heavy Duty Cord tires have been a contribution of real value to this great new industry.
