GENTLEMEN v. PLAYERS.

BOLUS AND SUTCLIFFE SCORE ANOTHER HUNDRED.

There have probably never been more disappointed faces at Lord's than there were yesterday. Not so many because the great domestic match of the season had been utterly ruined by rain, but on account of the fact that the two men whom everybody had come to see, having waited patiently for the right, strike in the ground so to do, St. John's Wood-road did not go by.

It is no disparagement to the great reputation of others playing in the match to say that it was Sherwell and Hearne-mainly only, who were the great attraction as gate-would seem to be the universality of this young people. As it was, what a treat as a quarter to 4, Holmes, Sutcliffe, and Hallows trooped the crowd to the usual polished exhibition, and when the last the second wicket fell, with Sherwell his 4 on the leading order. Only 4 on the leading order. Only 4 on the leading order. Only
