

Mr. Volk has sandwiched 20 years of typographic experience between his first job, an apprenticeship in a print shop in Stuttgart, Germany, and his present position as head of this organization. Much of that time was spent as a member, and later as manager, of the production department of one of the world's largest agencies. Mr. Volk's wide experience, and that of his associates, Mr. George W. Winter and Mr. Walter T. Armstrong, may be of aid to you in your typographic problems. Just call upon them.
