all articles intended for presentation purposes. In one of our earlier issues we published reproductions of postage-stamps printed from designs by Dorothea Suffrian. It is precisely such contrasts as designs for wrappings and postage-stamps that serve best to demonstrate the designer's power to judge the import and purpose of an advertisement.

Dorothea Suffrian comes from Hanover and formerly worked in Professor Luzian Bernhard's studio.

She is now one of the best-known woman graphic artists in Berlin.
