

CARL ERICKSON

Among those present

Up in the boxes, down in the ring —wherever you go, you will find these popular but unobtrusive little aids to pleasure . . . For people who know their thoroughbreds seem to have an instinct for the better things of life . . . A good judge of horseflesh is almost always a good judge of cigarettes.
