

The beauty of a packing can be the result of the suitability of the shape, of the decoration and of the material. It is only when all these parts are arranged as a whole that an impression is created which we feel to be beautiful. Martin Ullmann is one of the best American specialists in packings, and in his work we find all these conditions for a good packing fulfilled.

Transl. by W. L. Campbell.

Packings