

R. S. W. P.

It would be possible — should an inconceivable emergency overtake you — to go into Simpsons in ordinary clothes, and emerge within an hour, clad from head to foot in evening dress. Hat, coat, gloves, collar, tie, studs, shirt, tails, trousers, handkerchief, socks and shoes. But the point that we want to make is this—that the same evening you would be numbered among those distinguished men whose evening clothes are a guide and model for the whole world.
