

KURT LIBESNY

Schutzmarke

Trade mark

appreciation and a higher evaluation of the advertisements created by the expert artist, a form of advertising art which gradually made its way into nearly all industrial circles, enabled talented artists to devote themselves entirely to commercial art and to make use of it as a basis for their own new creative work. The afore-mentioned influences of various cultures play a part in present-day Austria as is evidenced in