

J. E. ALLEN

Etchings
Radierungen

of James E. Allen's graphic work are due not only to his great technical ability which is revealed in everything he does but also to his artist's attitude towards work, and his conception of it altogether. He looks at the men and things he portrays with a practical eye, in fact almost baldly, and all technical processes are executed by him with great exactitude as to details. In doing so, however, he never falls into the error of paying attention to trivialities but adheres to generous forms and pictures that are almost monumental in