

In 1870 when it was found that the Franco-German War would last much longer than was at first anticipated, and that the German troops would have to celebrate Christmas in France, those at home felt a great desire to express their deep thankfulness to the soldiers by sending them Christmas parcels. The "Berlin Aid Society for the German Armies in the Field" arranged for the transportation of the parcels. The society of Berlin Artists offered its services in the good cause and—for those days an unusual proceeding—commissioned ele-

Gilko-Packung                      Package for brandy
 Entwurf                              Design
 LUDWIG BURGER

Genies' mich nur „en petit verre“
 Und nur noch „en canard“
 Nur ja nicht „en canon“
 So bleibt es fest:
 Cognacibus probatum est!

Kognakpackung                      Package for cognac bottles
 Entwurf                              WASSILI TIMM                      Design

Packung für Zigarrenspitzen                      Package for cigar-holders
 Entwurf                              GUSTAV HEIL                      Design