a souvenir package of tobacco with the picture of the Jubilee Pavilion lack purchasers. Of the vast number of Jubilee publications, the most important was undoubtedly the "Gutenberg Album" published by Dr. Heinrich Meyer in Brunswick. In it are collected Odes to Gutenberg in many languages which famous poets and professors from all over the world had written for the centenary.

1940 The Jubilee celebrations which had been planned on a grand scale in Mainz and Leipzig to commemorate the 500th anniversary of the invention of printing have had to be cancelled owing to the war. This fifth centenary, however, will be observed on a smaller scale and in exhibitions in various German cities. Books and other publications relating to the centenary will probably all be printed since most of these have been in preparation for some time. A number of printing houses had already indicated the Gutenberg celebrations in their New Year Calendars on which portraits of the inventor alternate with pictures of old printing presses. It is to be hoped that the publications which are in preparation will from the artistic point of view prove worthy of the great occasion they commemorate. Translated by Flora Salmond-Volkman
