

sure of the focus of interest in such intricate compositions. Essentials are admirably reproduced in Rademacher's work. This is an art which is not acquired by talent alone. The artist must be able to see the problem from the publicity point of view required by trade