

Plakate Posters

copy with just a flavour of piquancy. For instance, he himself composed the few terse verses for the Löwenbräubier, whilst the idea of discovering Bavaria as the "sixth" Continent is but another instance of his delightful humour. Incidentally he is never at a loss for original ideas which he delights to immortalise in drawings, whereby it is quite immaterial to him whether they reach the public or not. In this he reflects the typical Munich atmosphere. His work is

Glasfensterentwurf für eine Trinkstube
Design for the windows of a drinking-hall