Published as the Act directs July 1, 1796, by N. Heideloff, at the Gallery of Fashion Office N.º 90 Wardour Street.

with 251 self-coloured aquatint engravings, some in gold relief, was published by himself in London between 1794 and 1802 and is far more than a mere series of fashion plates. We have in this work a rare and valuable contribution to the life of English society in the so-called Directory Age when England made an interesting attempt
