

Plakat für Herrenbekleidung
Poster for Men's Wear

"Danish History" from the days of the mythical Danish kings of the Sagas to the present time. The artist has, moreover, executed a copious series to Dumas' "Three Musketeers" in which he has allowed his poetic feeling for narrative free scope and given his imagination full rein. Henry Thelander is an artist representing a small country which naturally cannot give an advertising artist a few commissions of outstanding importance but compels him perforce to adopt a certain versatility in his work. Specialists are rare in small countries; for