

Lajos Szalay is perhaps one of the most talented of the rising generation of artists who studied at the Budapest Academy of Arts. Szalay is still a young artist; vigorous and enthusiastic, he lives in his own visionary world. His medium is the pen, in the use of which he is a past master and he possesses, moreover, the gift of keen observation. His form of expression is frequently vigorous, even sarcastic at times. To some his drawings may appear distorted. Nevertheless they reveal an intense urge
